"We Thought You'd Never Ask" Voices of People with Autism

A Documentary Film

"These first person accounts provide a window into the lives of those affected by autism. We applaud this rich portrayal of the diversity, creativity, and insightfulness of people with autism, and hope that it will promote understanding and further research and support for the autism community."

-Former U.S. President Jimmy Carter and Rosalynn Carter

"This is the single most powerful film on autistic spectrum disorder to date."

-Micheal McSheehan, University of New Hampshire

"There has not been another film quite like this beforea must see!"

Patrick Schwartz, Ph.D., National-Louis University

"Lots of people think it is awful, but it is just different."

"Autistic people have lots to offer. Not only our time and our talents, but some of us are very detail-oriented, some of us are very imaginative, some of us can do stuff no one else can do . . ."

"The soul must be loved as it is."

Autism: We Thought You'd Never Ask

In Autism: We Thought You'd Never Ask, we hear the intimate thoughts and feelings of six adults with autism. In this revealing film, we learn what it feels like to live in their bodies and inhabit their lives. What they have to tell us is often touching, revealing, and surprising. These six characters explore questions that include describing autism, the gifts and hardships that it brings to them, how they are treated by others, and how they would like to be treated and perceived. Their powerful words illustrate why they are the truest 'autism experts' we have, and what we can learn from listening to their stories.
